International Dance Day planned for Sunday 13 November will be postponed until next year. Further details will follow in the New Year.

The committee has been very busy over the last few weeks with three great events. Firstly, Emma Hills and Karina Jay held an afternoon of fine wine and music at the Wirra Wirra barrel hall on 28 August. STARS sponsored this event as Emma is a STARS of Waverley recipient and our commitment was to assist with the accompanist fees. This was a wonderful afternoon showcasing the talent of both of these singers who are currently students of the Elder Conservatorium of Music and the proceeds of the event will assist the girls to travel overseas to gain further experience in their singing careers. The accompanist, Sachiko Hidaka, was outstanding and the huge crowd were very appreciative of the whole afternoon.

On Saturday 3 September STARS hosted Eating History, part of the SA Writers Festival at Waverley Homestead. Brian Reader prepared the rooms with the History pictures as well as some of his miniatures and the visitors including co-sponsor Wakefield Press Director, Stephanie Johnston, commented on the presentation. Panel members included Barbara Santich, the author of several books on food history and Angela Heuzenroeder, the author of Barossa Food. The afternoon included a speed dating session which was very well received and guests were able to purchase signed copies of all of the books that were discussed. It was an informative and enjoyable afternoon and STARS presented cheese and fruit to go with the wine provided by Fox Creek. Special thanks to Nancy Weisbrodt for her invaluable assistance.

On Sunday 4 September Limited Edition returned to Waverley House again. This great looking acapella group have been together for a number of years and their performances just get better and better. The concert fell on Fathers Day but the audience was large and very appreciative of the talent and the wonderful repertoire. This group will be celebrating their 20 Years Strong concert at Star Theatre Hilton on 22 October at 7.30 pm and on 23 October at 2.00 pm. For bookings call 0479 040 856.
